

Facilitating regional collaboration between the NSF-ATE community and industry partners, within and across disciplines, on the transformation of associate degree programs to prepare US technicians for the work of the future

Activities

- Regional Convenings of industry and education
- Industry site visits and technician interviews
- ATE Future of Work Leadership Caucus

Findings

- All STEM technicians, regardless of discipline, will need cross-cutting skills in
- Data Knowledge and Analysis,
  - Advanced Digital Literacy,
  - and Business Knowledge and Processes

Resources

- Podcasts
- Blog articles
- YouTube channel
- Monthly newsletter
- Instructional activities
(coming soon)

Interested in hosting a Regional Convening?

Multi-sector convenings offer ATE educators, regional employers, and workforce professionals opportunities to identify skills and knowledge the technician workforce will need in the coming decade. Contact us.